Creating Still Life and Food Images in a Small Space:

This presentation will cover everything from props, backgrounds and surfaces, lighting and setting up in a small tabletop space in your home, using natural light. The subject of still life is a creative endeavor from start to finish and learning to use natural light effectively indoors is the first step to creating some beautiful and dramatic still life compositions. This is the perfect project for winter months indoors to keep your creativity fresh and fun.

Since I picked up a camera in May of 2020 my eyes have been opened to all the beauty that surrounds us every day. Landscape, nature and wildlife are my favourite things to photograph. My life is journaled through those photographs and I post them on social media to help my friends take their eyes off the chaos of these crazy times for just a few moments. Being a life learner, photography is the perfect passion for me as there will always be more to learn. Looking forward to learning and improving as a result of being a member of this great club.
